

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS (RFP) to implement soy promotion campaign in Uganda

RFP NUMBER: MAP19-RFP-Africa-04.1-2019
Title: Soy promotion campaign in Uganda
Program: World Initiative for Soy in Human Health Organization: American Soybean Association
Project Duration: Promotion campaign should be completed by November 30, 2019
Proposal Due: May 15, 2019

1. Purpose

The purpose of this request for proposals is to solicit a contractor to implement a soy promotion campaign that will encourage the consumption and use of U.S. soy food ingredients and processed foods containing U.S. soy food ingredients. The campaign should focus on promoting the nutritive benefits of soy to the general population, educating people on how to utilize the products, and familiarizing the public with the taste of the product. The overall goal of the campaign is to increase sales in the targeted market.

2. Background of the WISHH Program

The American Soybean Association (ASA) was founded in 1920 by soybean farmers and extension workers to promote soy for high protein applications in developmental settings. Overseas activities initiated in the mid-1950s, and to date ASA has worked in over 80 countries. The World Initiative for Soy in Human Health (WISHH) was founded in 2000 to expand the work of the American Soybean Association (ASA) in developing emerging markets to improve health, nutrition and food security, building the groundwork for future markets of soy. WISHH provides services in food technology, business development, nutrition services, and program and proposal development. WISHH expertise extends its network into additional areas, such as aquaculture and animal feed.

ASA/WISHH connects trade and development to strengthen agricultural value chains in emerging markets, creating trade and long-term demand for U.S. soy. Trade can improve lives worldwide for both farmers and consumers. U.S. soy trade in emerging markets is pivotal to improve accessibility, affordability, and acceptability of high-quality plant and animal-sourced proteins in developing economies. Rising incomes in emerging economies generate further opportunity for trade. ASA/WISHH builds opportunity for long-term trade by improving agricultural value chains, human and animal nutrition, and farmer net incomes. ASA/WISHH initiatives broadly fit in two arenas: (1) trade-building long-term, early-stage market development, and, (2) trade-building international agriculture and economic development. The St. Louis-based Program operates in sub-Saharan Africa, Asia and Central America.

ASA/WISHH offers over six years of proven feed sector capacity and decades of accumulated knowledge from ASA programs. Principal approaches include market and economic assessments, technical assistance and capacity building, food and feed trials and demonstrations, farmer field days, youth mentorship programs, food and feed value chain development, and market linkages.

ASA/WISHH achieves its mission by working in close partnership with: (1) the public sector (e.g., USDA, USAID, U.S. land grant universities, and host country governments), (2) the private sector (e.g., trade associations: Qualified State Soybean Boards and U.S. Soybean Export Council), and (3) private voluntary organizations. The Program draws upon the resources and experience of these partners and the services of a cadre of ASA/WISHH consultants with technical expertise in agricultural, international and commercial development spheres. ASA/WISHH relies on decades of experience in food commercial development and agricultural development programming. The Program takes pride in its growing portfolio of success with U.S. government-funded projects, including USDA (Food for Progress, McGovern-Dole, Global Broad-Based Initiative, Foreign Market Development, Market Access Program, Emerging Markets Program, and Quality Samples Program) and USAID funding in both prime and sub-recipient capacities. ASA/WISHH has also attracted both private sector and other complementary funding sources from various donors to build on and leverage core funding from Qualified State Soybean Boards.

The WISHH program receives funding from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) through the Emerging Markets Program (EMP), Market Access Program (MAP), Foreign Market Development Program (FMD), Agriculture Trade Promotion Program (ATP) and the Global Broad-Based Initiative (GBI). WISHH's objective is to increase the international consumption of soy protein in the human, livestock, and aquaculture sectors in new markets and thereby create new opportunities for soybeans and providing higher economic returns to U.S. soybean producers.

3. Project Description

WISHH received funds from the United States Department of Agriculture's Market Access Program (MAP) to implement soy promotion campaigns in Uganda.

WISHH employs a supply chain partner (SCP) strategy in Uganda to help with the promotion of U.S. soy. The SCP strategy involves the development of a partnership between WISHH and a local business that has the ability, interest, and vision to sell a line of products that utilize U.S. soy. This strategy may look differently depending on the country. For instance, in Uganda there is a SCP that is importing U.S. soy food ingredients and using them to manufacture processed soy foods, while a SCP in Nigeria is serving more of a distribution role. Depending on the needs of the market, WISHH will identify companies that can successfully lead soy food businesses and introduce new products to their region.

This campaign will be conducted in Uganda, and should focus on reaching customers in Kampala, the surrounding region, and other strategic locations where customers may be likely to purchase soy foods and soy food ingredients. The proposal should include proposed activities for promoting soy foods and soy food ingredients, and should discuss the benefits that these promotions will have for the U.S. soy industry. The primary soy food exports to Uganda are defatted soy flour and textured soy protein.
